

John Hroncich, PE

Senior Mechanical Engineer

---

About

Having joined Kohler Ronan's New York office in 2012, John has proven to be a leader in the mechanical department. He has significant experience across a variety of project and building types including New York City residential and independent schools.

As Senior Mechanical Engineer, John is responsible for mechanical systems design including determining heating and cooling loads, sizing and scheduling of airside and waterside equipment, layout of ductwork/piping, and review of shop drawings and submittals. Of course, John coordinates his work with the other engineering trades for a seamless end result.
