

Scott Fish

Senior Plumbing and Fire Protection Engineer

About

Scott is a results-oriented engineer with 30 years of industry experience and expertise. He is particularly effective at interfacing with architects, code officials, and construction managers to ensure a successful transition from preliminary concept design through to construction. Scott also contributes to our fire protection team when his talents and expertise are required.

As Senior Plumbing and Fire Protection Engineer, Scott's primary responsibilities include plumbing systems design and related equipment selection. Scott also ensures the coordination of his plumbing and fire protection designs with those of his colleagues in other disciplines.
